CHAPTER II

METHOD OF ANALYSIS

In the analysis of conflict in Arthur Miller’s Death of Salesman, I use the library research. I collect data from related books and other literature that can be related to the topic that I analyzed. The books are related to conflict written by some scholars. In doing this thesis, I use some steps as follows:

II.1 Data Collecting Procedure.

The primary source of the data is the text itself. First of all, I read the play to understand the story and to find out the important information about the leading character, for example how the leading character interact with other characters. I analyze the leading character based on the dialogues. And then I underline the important information from the play. Not only the play, I also use some books and several other resources as references related to the topic that I analyzed.

II.2 Data Selecting Procedure.

The second step is data selecting. All information that I have got from the sources are being selected. Only the very significant data are used in the process of doing this thesis.

II.3 Data Analyzing Procedure.
The last step is data analyzing. All selected data are being analyzed to prove what are being written in the objective of this thesis and finally I can draw the conclusion for this thesis.
