This thesis talks about morals in Sandra Brown’s Mirror Image. The writer realizes that there may be some missing points in the process of analyzing this thesis and some of them are analyzed incorrectly or unclearly.

Sandra Brown’s Mirror Image is very good to read because it talks about both good and bad morals. Therefore, the readers are suggested not to commit actions which do not coincide with moral standards and principles, such as selfishness which can lead someone to take revenge against others, infidelity, and abortion because they will just bring loss to someone’s self and also many people. In addition to that, the readers are also suggested to have good morals, especially kindness, because it will bring joy and happiness to many people.
