Numeral Auxiliary noun is a unique word in Mandarin. In Mandarin, it can be divided into five types: individual, collective, weighty, indefinite, and loan. It has its own characteristics when it is used in Mandarin sentences. The title of this thesis is “The Analysis of Errors in Using Numeral Auxiliary Nouns in Mandarin Sentences.” Therefore, some errors in using numeral auxiliary nouns in Mandarin are done by the fourth semester students of the Chinese Study Program, Faculty of Cultural Science, University of Sumatera Utara. The aim of the study was to know the kinds of error in using numeral auxiliary nouns, to know some factors which cause the errors in using numeral auxiliary nouns, and to help the students understand this case in their study.

The concept used in this thesis was the analysis of errors, words, nouns, and numeral auxiliary nouns. The methodology used in this thesis was descriptive analysis. The writer used syntactical theory and analysis of errors in order to analyze the use of numeral auxiliary nouns in Mandarin. After analyzing the numeral auxiliary nouns, the writer found out some results as follows: some of the students made errors without knowing the characteristics of numeral auxiliary nouns; besides that they lacked of Mandarin vocabulary which eventually brought about the errors in using numeral auxiliary nouns in Mandarin.

Keywords: Analysis of Errors, Numeral Auxiliary Nouns