Dear Dr. Iskandar Muda,

Good morning!

Hope everything is well.

Please note that it may take our reviewers some time to conduct the review of each of your manuscripts. It is because your submitted articles have been sent not to the same but to several different experts in the field for peer review. Hence, you will be getting the reviewers comments not at the same time. We are kindly asking you to wait for the comments. Editorial Staff will send you the referee reports as soon as they are available.

Moreover, we would like to let you know that GBFR is a quarterly journal. In other words, it is published four times a year (March, June, September, and December). Thus, it is not preferable when the same author or authors publish several articles in the same issue. Please keep in mind that if your articles are accepted you can get them published not only in the single Special Issue but also in upcoming issues of the journal throughout the year.

Let us know if you have any other questions.

Thank you for your time and consideration!

Kindly yours,

Armigon Akhmedov

GBFR International Relations.
